

HIGHER DEGREE RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP

Infectious diseases are the number one killer of young children worldwide and a main reason for childhood hospitalisations in Australia. The mission of the Telethon Kids Institute's Wesfarmers Centre of Vaccines & Infectious Diseases (Wesfarmers Centre) is to reduce the burden of serious childhood infectious diseases by finding better prevention and treatment solutions.

The Wesfarmers Centre Higher Degree Research Scholarship is an internal funding mechanism to engage the best students in our research teams and programs.

SCHOLARSHIP DESCRIPTION

The Wesfarmers Centre's Higher Degree Research Scholarship is awarded to candidates of exceptional research potential undertaking a higher degree by research at an Australian university. See eligibility criteria for more details.

WHAT IT COVERS

Successful applications will receive up to $10,000 per annum tax free for a Honours (up to one year), Masters (up to two years), or PhD (up to three years) student at any stage in candidature.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Successful applicants must meet the following criteria:

- Currently enrolled at an Australian university for ≥ 0.5 FTE
- Contingent on receiving a Research Training Program award (formally the Australian Postgraduate Awards) or an equivalent scheme
- Be an employee of the Telethon Kids Institute, or postgraduate student whose supervisor holds a permanent / honorary position at the Telethon Kids Institute
- Have a proposed research topic in line with the research of the Wesfarmers Centre, i.e. aimed at reducing the burden of serious childhood infectious diseases by finding better diagnostic, prevention and treatment solutions
